Change log for part two

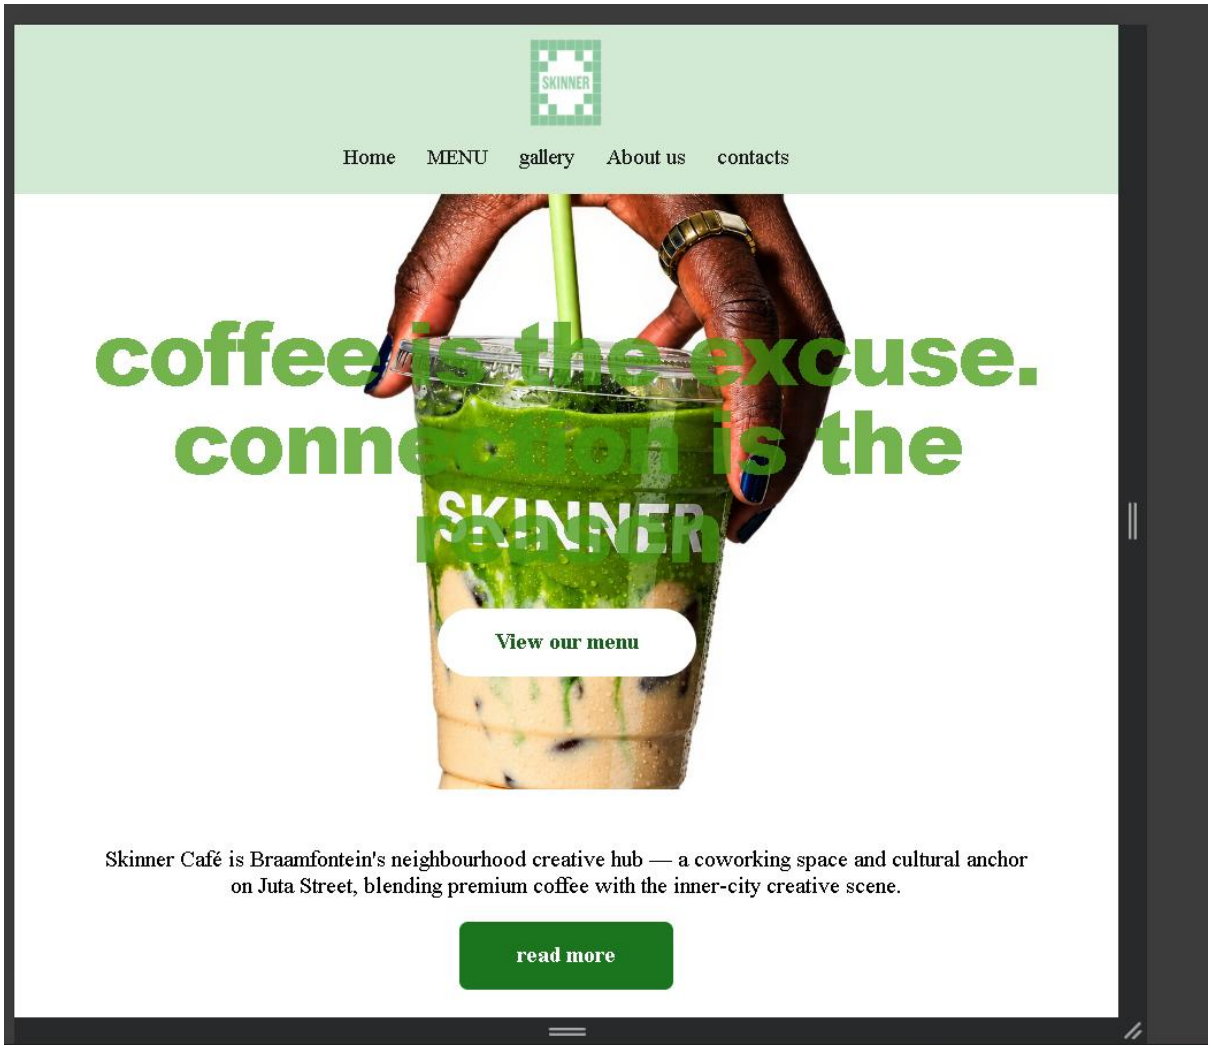

The changes that were made in part 2 from part one is making the website responsive and adding more css style and fixing mistakes from part one. I Made the home page more unique and visually interesting, Improved the navigation bar styling and I Added a Pinterest style gallery layout. I also Redesigned the hero section to be more visually impactful and Fixed various layout and spacing issues across all pages

The first website had had no responsive design I added responsiveness for a laptop, tablet and mobile
